Give them the opportunity to ask questions, and remind them they can take the information away to consider it further.

Your loan explained

This page gives details of the key features of your loan, and the risks involved. Please read this page with the pre-contract credit information. You can take this information away to read it in detail before you make a decision.

Important information about your loan

The loan

A loan from Barclays Partner Finance will allow you to spread the cost of your purchase over an agreed period of time. We will pay the loan amount directly to the retailer and you cannot use the loan for any other purpose. You must make monthly repayments to us.

The offer of the loan is open for 30 days from the date you applied.

You should consider the information in this document and the pre-contract credit information during this period. If you have any questions please get in touch with us using our contact details set out below.

What you will need to pay

You will pay us interest at the rate stated in the agreement. You will need to pay a total amount of £4,163.08 (This includes any deposit you have already paid). This is made up of 84 monthly repayments of £48.37.

Changing your mind

If you change your mind you can withdraw from the agreement within 14 days beginning on the day after you sign the agreement, or when we confirm to you in writing that you and we have entered into the agreement, if this is later. You can do this verbally or in writing by getting in touch with us using the contact details below.

If you withdraw from the agreement and we have paid the loan amount to the retailer, you will have to repay the amount of the loan within 30 days of the date you told us you want to withdraw from it (we will not charge you interest or any other charge during that time). If you do not repay all amounts when they are due, the agreement will continue.

Withdrawing from the loan does not cancel your purchase.

You will need to make separate arrangements with the retailer or have another way to repay us if we have already paid the loan amount to the retailer.

To keep things simple, the retailer may delay supplying your purchase until the 14 days you have to withdraw from the loan has passed.

Not keeping up repayments

If you miss a payment, we will add the late payment and other related charges to your account (full details are set out in the pre-contract credit information and loan agreement). We will also charge you more interest as a result.

If you don't make payments when they are due or you miss several payments, the following may apply:

- You may also have to repay the loan early.
- Your credit records may be affected in a way that makes it harder or more expensive to borrow in the future.
- We may need to take legal action to recover what you owe. However, we rarely need to take legal action, and even if we did, it is highly unlikely it would result in repossession of your home.

- We may use money you have in another account with us to pay a missed payment or everything you owe us for the loan.

Other important information and features of your agreement

'Interest' explained

Interest is a percentage of your loan amount, which is our charge for lending you money.

We will calculate the amount of interest you have to pay each day by multiplying the daily interest rate by the loan balance on that day. We will charge you interest on your account each month on your repayment date. At the start of the loan we have worked out this amount assuming that you will make all your repayments on time and that each month has an equal number of days.

Your repayments would be the loan amount and interest added together, and divided by the number of months the loan was spread across.

What 'APR' or 'annual percentage rate' is

APR shows the yearly cost of the loan expressed as a percentage and helps you compare different types of loan.

Changing your repayment date

Your first repayment date is one month from the date we pay the loan to the retailer. We must take your first repayment on that date. If you want to change your repayment date this may mean you have to make more than one repayment in one month. You can change your repayment date once every 12 months free of charge. If you want to change your repayment date more than once in a 12-month period, each further change will cost £10. This may mean you pay more or less interest.

How we use your information

This section sets out details of the information we collect about you and what we do with it. You can see an up-to-date version of this information at any time on our website. Visit www.barclayspartnerfinance.com and click on the privacy policy link at the bottom of the page.

We and other members of the Barclays Group may send you information about products and services (including those of other companies) which may be of interest to you. We will still do this if we do not accept your application for credit. We may send you information by post, email or phone (including by text message). To stop receiving marketing information from us at any time, please write to us at Barclays Partner Finance, PO Box 2501, Cardiff, CF23 0FP.

We may collect and use the following personal and financial information about you.

- Information you give us or we get from others such as credit reference agencies and fraud prevention agencies (who may search the electoral register) and other organisations.
- Information we learn from the way you use and manage your accounts and the payments you make to your accounts. This may include information you provide relating to your health and lifestyle.

You can ask us for a copy of the information we hold about you by writing to us. We will charge a fee for providing the information.

We and other members of the Barclays Group use information about you as follows.

- To manage your application and accounts, give you statements and provide our services.
- For assessment and analysis purposes. This includes working out your suitability for a credit product based on how you have managed previous and current financial products, your current financial position and how often you have applied for and used credit products such as bank accounts, credit cards, loans and mobile phone contracts. It also includes market and product analysis. We may also generate statistical reports which we may share within the Barclays Group or with non-Barclays companies for their own purposes. (These reports will not contain any information that identifies you.)
- To help us develop and improve our services to you and other customers and protect our interests.

We may monitor and record calls between us.

We may use your information and share it with credit reference and fraud prevention agencies now or in the future as follows.

- To help us make decisions when you apply for and after you have received any products, make enquiries, check your details, check your credit history, confirm your identity or help us manage your accounts (for example, to offer you new products, recover debts you owe us or trace you if we need to).
- To share information about you and how you manage your accounts.
- If we suspect or identify fraud, money laundering or other crimes, or you give us false or inaccurate information.

Credit reference agencies keep a record of our enquiries and may record and use information we give them and give it to other lenders, insurers and other organisations, even if we do not accept your application for a loan. We, law enforcement agencies and other organisations may also use this information to prevent and detect fraud, money laundering and other crimes. Organisations in the UK and in other countries may access and use information kept by fraud prevention agencies.

Information credit reference agencies keep may be linked to records relating to one or more of your partners where a financial association has been created, and credit reference agencies may refer to any associated records when assessing any enquiry we make. Please contact us if you would like further details of the credit reference and fraud prevention agencies we use.

We may also give information about you and how you manage your accounts to:

- people who provide services to us or act as our agents, as long as they keep this information confidential;
- anyone we transfer or may transfer our rights and duties under this agreement to, to allow them and members of their group to use in the same way as set out in this agreement (including for marketing); and
- anyone else if we have a duty to do so or if the law allows us to do so.

If we give your information to a service provider or agent in another country, we will make sure that they agree to apply the same levels of protection as we must apply to information held in the UK and to use your information only for the purposes that we have allowed.

In order to process some payments to and from your accounts, we may have to send the details of the payment (including information about people involved in the payment) abroad, where they could be accessed by regulators and authorities in connection with their legitimate duties, for example to help prevent crime.

Terms and conditions of your loan

Your loan

The agreement is between you and us (Clydesdale Financial Services Limited, trading as Barclays Partner Finance). Our registered address is 1 Churchill Place, London, E14 5HP. Please contact us using the details in the 'Our contact information' section.

The offer of this loan is open for 30 days from the date you applied. You should consider the "Your loan explained" document and the pre-contract credit information during this period. If you have any questions please contact us using the contact information set out below.

You have agreed to buy the goods and services from the retailer as shown, and this agreement will provide the loan to help pay for your purchase. At the same time as you sign this agreement you must pay any deposit (called an advance payment) as shown.

After we have accepted and signed this agreement and you have received the goods or services purchased, we will pay the loan amount to the retailer.

Interest

We will calculate interest and add it to the loan amount at the rate shown, beginning on the date we pay the retailer, until you have repaid the loan in full. We will calculate the amount of interest you have to pay each day by multiplying the daily interest rate by the loan balance on that day. We will charge interest to your account each month on your repayment date. At the start of the loan we have worked out this amount assuming that you will make all your repayments on time and that each month has an equal number of days.

We have made a number of assumptions when calculating the total amount of interest you have to pay, including when you will make the first repayment and that each month has an equal number of days. If any of these assumptions are incorrect, this may mean you will pay more or less interest at the end of your loan. We will tell you if this is the case.

We may change the interest rate at any time and we will tell you by writing to you at least seven days before we do this. We may need to change the interest rate because:

- our business needs to stay competitive, for example if market conditions change;
- actual or expected funding costs change;
- this is necessary to make sure we run our business carefully and economically;
- there has been a change in banking practice; or
- there has been a change in any law or regulations which apply.

We will never charge you a higher interest rate than the one stated in this agreement.

Repayments

You agree to make the repayments as shown in your agreement with us. We use any payments you make first to pay any charges and fees, then to pay the interest part of your repayment, and then to pay the loan amount.

Your first repayment date is one month from the date that we pay the loan to the retailer. We will write to you to tell you the date your first repayment is due. We must take your first repayment on that date. If you want to change the repayment date, this may mean you make more than one repayment in one month. You can change your repayment date once every 12 months free of charge. If you want to change your repayment date more than once in a 12-month period, each further change will cost £10. This may mean you pay more or less interest.

We may change our late payment charges, charge for changing your repayment date or add new charges to reflect changes in our overhead costs or direct costs we have to pay to others, or to take account of inflation. We must give you notice of any new or amended charges.

Failure to pay

If you are worried about being able to pay the amounts due under this agreement please contact us as we may be able to help.

We have the right to demand that you repay the full amount of your loan immediately if any of the following applies.

- You miss a payment and still have not paid after the time period we give in the notice we send you about the missed payment.
- You become bankrupt or make other arrangements between you and your creditors because you cannot repay your debts.
- You die (we would ask your estate to make the repayment).
- You are convicted of an offence involving dishonesty or you have provided incorrect information when applying for this agreement.

Consequences of missing payments

- You will have to continue to pay interest at the rate shown until you have repaid the loan in full.
- You may have to repay the loan early.
- We will add the following charges to what you owe (where these apply): late payment charge £22.50, arrears letter charge £22.50, collections letter charge £22.50, unpaid cheque or direct debit £20, trace fee (if you move without telling us and we need to take steps to find you) £27.50. Any charges that apply become due for paying immediately. If for some reason you do not pay them, we will add them to your account and you will pay interest on them.
- We may put a negative entry on your credit record. This may make it more difficult or more expensive for you to borrow money in the future.
- We will add any costs or expenses we have to pay in connection with taking action to recover the debt to your account and you must pay interest on the increased amount at the rate stated in this loan agreement.
- We may need to take legal action to recover what you owe. However, we rarely need to take legal action, and even if we did, it is highly unlikely it would result in repossession of your home.
- We may also use money you have in another account with us to pay a missed payment or anything else you owe us in connection with the loan.
- You should be aware that if we take you to court and get a judgement against you requiring you to pay us the money you owe us under the agreement, you may have to pay us both the amount of the judgement and the interest due under the agreement on all amounts you owe on the date of the judgement until you have paid these in full. This means that even if you pay off the whole amount of the judgement, you may still have a further amount to pay.

Your legal rights

- You can repay some or all of your loan early but you must tell us if you decide to do this. Contact us using the details shown in the 'Our contact information' section of these terms and conditions. If you make a repayment early it will show on your account on the next scheduled repayment date. If you repay all of the loan early, we will charge you interest up to the settlement date (which is 28 days after you tell us you want to repay the loan early or any later date you tell us you want to repay the loan) plus a further calendar month's interest, we will charge interest at the rate which applies to your loan amount at the time you make the payment.
- At any time during this agreement you can ask us for a free statement which contains a table showing the amounts of your repayments (broken down to show the interest and loan amounts) and the dates you paid them or the dates they are due.

Terms and conditions of your loan (continued)

- You can withdraw from the loan within 14 days beginning on the day after you sign the agreement, or when we confirm to you in writing that you and we have entered into this agreement, if this is later. You can withdraw from this agreement by calling us on 0800 15 22 888 or writing to us at Barclays Partner Finance, PO Box 2501, Cardiff, CF23 0FP. If you withdraw from the loan and we have already paid the retailer, you will have to repay the loan amount within 30 days of the date on which you tell us you want to withdraw from the loan (we will not charge you interest or other charges during that time). If you do not repay all amounts the agreement will continue. Withdrawing from the loan does not cancel your purchase. You will need to make separate arrangements with the retailer if you withdraw from this agreement before we have paid the loan amount to the retailer. To keep things simple, the retailer may delay supplying your purchase until the 14 days you have to withdraw from the loan have passed.
- You can make a claim against us or the retailer (or both) if you are not satisfied with the goods or services supplied and the cash price is more than £100. If the cash price is more than £30,000 and the loan or credit amount is less than £60,260, you can only make a claim against us if the retailer is not able to settle your claim.
- You can complain to the Financial Ombudsman Service if you are not satisfied with how we deal with any complaint you make about this agreement or our service. Please send your complaint to us first, using the details shown in the 'Our contact information' section. Other important information

- You must tell us if your address or contact details change.
- You agree to us paying commission to any broker or supplier acting as your agent in relation to the agreement.
- This agreement is governed by the law of the country in the UK in which you live on the date of the loan agreement (England, Wales, Scotland or Northern Ireland) and any disputes relating to the agreement will be dealt with by the courts of these countries. If you live outside the UK the loan agreement is governed by English law and any disputes will be dealt with by the courts of England and Wales.
- If we cannot enforce any part of this agreement this will not prevent us from enforcing the other parts.
- If we do not use our strict rights under this agreement, for example if we do not demand a repayment when it is overdue, this will not prevent us from using our rights under this agreement on another occasion. If we agree to vary the terms of this agreement on one occasion, this does not mean that we must agree to vary the terms on another occasion.
- If you miss a payment or are otherwise in financial difficulty, we may change:

- a the monthly repayment amount under this agreement;
- b the dates your repayments are due; and
- c the length of the agreement.

However, the monthly repayment amount will never be higher than the amount shown as the monthly repayment amount in this agreement, no repayment will become due earlier than it would have been due under this agreement and the length of the agreement will never be shorter than it would have been originally under this agreement. If we make any of these changes we can collect the revised payments and any other amounts you owe us under any direct debit instruction.

- We may transfer our rights under this agreement to someone else. We may transfer our rights and responsibilities under this agreement to Barclays Bank Plc. This means another company would take over managing your loan and collecting the repayments, but it wouldn't mean the terms of your agreement would change. We will tell you if we do this. You do not have the right to transfer this agreement.
- If any time period starts when we or you receive a letter or notice, we agree that if it is sent by first class post, the time period will start on the third working day (Monday to Saturday) after posting (the date shown on the letter or notice).
